

English Teaching Worksheets

Name : _____

Imagery Worksheet 1

Identify the type of imagery (smell, taste, etc.) used in each example. Then say what mood is created in the reader by each description.

Example: The clear lake reflected the snow-capped mountains perfectly.

Type of imagery: visual/sight

Mood: The visual imagery gives the reader a sense of peace and beauty.

1. Raindrops spattered on the windowpane, a rhythmic melody drumming against the glass.
Type of imagery:
Mood:
2. The city skyline glittered like a diamond necklace against the inky black canvas of night.
Type of imagery:
Mood:
3. Bill caught the musky scent of old books as he stepped into the abandoned library.
Type of imagery:
Mood:
4. The bitter tang of unsweetened black coffee jolted him awake, chasing away the remnants of sleep.
Type of imagery:
Mood:
5. Roberta sank into the plush armchair, its soft embrace enveloping her after a long day.
Type of imagery:
Mood:
6. Buttery popcorn melted in Bobby's mouth, leaving behind a satisfyingly salty aftertaste.
Type of imagery:
Mood:
7. The vibrant fall leaves painted the forest floor with fiery hues of crimson, gold, and amber.
Type of imagery:
Mood:
8. She could feel the coarse fabric of the burlap sack scratching her bare arms as she picked up the heavy bag and put it in the corner.

English Teaching Worksheets

Name : _____

Type of imagery:

Mood:

9. The metallic tang of blood in his mouth was a persistent reminder of the fight, no matter how hard he tried to forget it.

Type of imagery:

Mood:

10. After it rains in the summer, the pungent aroma of freshly cut grass can often be smelled in the air.

Type of imagery:

Mood:

11. A sudden crack of thunder split the night sky, followed by the angry rumble of approaching rain.

Type of imagery:

Mood:

12. The cityscape sprawled out before them, a seemingly endless sea of twinkling lights and towering structures.

Type of imagery:

Mood:

13. When I go hiking, I always enjoy the damp, earthy scent of decaying leaves and pine needles in the woods.

Type of imagery:

Mood:

14. He savored the smoky flavor of the steak and followed it with a dark, slightly sweet wine.

Type of imagery:

Mood:

15. The icy wind whipped through her hair, pricking her scalp with a thousand tiny needles.

Type of imagery:

Mood:

16. The cacophony of the city streets – honking horns, sirens, and shouting vendors – created a constant, dull roar.

Type of imagery:

Mood: